Good for locals too who may not know where to find good places for a drink or just may not want to have to find those hidden gems themselves.1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. Five StarsBy Rae Anne FrenchA wonderful book! And a great gift!

Buzzed taps into New England's burgeoning craft beer industry, longtime coffeehouse culture, and the up-and-coming world of craft distilling. With an everyman perspective and sharp wit, award-winning food and travel writer Erik Ofgang takes readers on a rollicking tour of New England's booming craft beverage scene. Focusing on craft beverage clusters (areas where breweries, distilleries, and great coffeehouses can be found in close proximity to one another), Buzzed tells readers all they need to know about visiting a particular drinking establishment. This travel guide is packed with inside information gathered directly from brewers and distillers, as well as bar trivia facts, historical tidbits, and Ofgang's smart, humorous observations. Ofgang also suggests side trips, which include must-see museums, walking trails, and the standout attractions that make New England such a vibrant vacation destination.

If your goal is to keep your finger on the pulse of all that is New England craft beer, Erik is your lifeblood." Kevin Mardorf, ctbeer.com and beefests.com "With lively story-telling, an eye for detail, and a keen palate, Erik Ofgang brings New England's breweries, coffeehouses, and distilleries to life. His enthusiasm drips from every page." Josh Pahigian, The Ultimate Baseball Road Trip 101 Baseball Places to See Before You Strike Out "Combining Erik Ofgang's unrivaled expertise and passion for craft beverages with his inviting writing and sober dedication to task makes for a heady concoction that will have you eager to get out and explore." --Ray Bendici Speaking Ill of the Dead: Jerks in Connecticut History No matter where you are in New England, from Boston to Burlington to Bridgeport, Erik has great recommendations for you. --George Smith, georgesmithmaine.com About the Author Erik Ofgang is an award-winning writer, musician, and magician whose work regularly appears in dozens of magazines and newspapers throughout the country, including The Associated Press, The Hartford Courant, and Connecticut Magazine, where he works as a staff writer and content curator. He teaches writing at Western Connecticut State University and is the founding editor of Poor Yorick, a literary journal published by the university's Master of Fine Arts in Creative and Professional Writing program. When he's not writing or conducting intensive field research at breweries or distilleries, he can be found playing bass with the Celtic roots band, MacTalla Mor. He lives in western Connecticut with his wife and designated driver, Corinne. Although he's an expert in alcoholic beverages, he prides himself in never having experienced the pain of a hangover. Yet.
