It did its job and helped me get there and back. One additional comment: Call me old school but I love a good map. My car GPS makes me dumber every time I use it. I find myself blindly following its directions only to find that I could have saved time and gas by planning the route myself. I also seem to remember the directions better when I plot it out on an "old-fashioned" map. 5 of 5 people found the following review helpful. works for me! By Sk8keesI like paper maps - I'm one of those people who goes off on random trips, but well researched. My preferred method of traveling an area is to read a book on it, mark up a map with a highlighter, and set off, sort sticking to the highlighted route, but not necessarily. This is a great map for that, although the split in the front and back sides of the map went right through a part of the state I would have preferred to have on the same side. Ah well, I suppose no one consulted me on the shape of the state, and they had to split the map somewhere. 2 of 2 people found the following review helpful. Scenic Route By camilla griggsWe take a two week road trip each year and like to follow as many scenic routes as possible. The Rand McNally we have found to be perfect for this. We will make up 3 or four states at a time and find that these maps clearly identify possible routes.
