Great book to have on hand while on our road trip. We stayed in the Bar Harbor area and I was surprised not to see any of the hole in wall places we ate at not written about. Doesn't matter this book is a wonderful read all around. I highly recommend it. Love the recipes too. :-)

How better to celebrate the milestones in a Maine year than with food, whether prepared at home or enjoyed in a restaurant? And who better to guide you than the creators of one of Maine's most popular food blogs? Jillian and Malcolm Bedell are the pied pipers of great Maine dining, seeking out and celebrating the best traditional fare as well as the most irresistible international cuisines exploding across Maine today. With 115 recipes, over 50 restaurant reviews, and seven food-centric Maine road trips, from fried clams to lobster fra diavolo, from Maine Italian sandwiches to Mayan slow-cooked pork, Eating in Maine will guide you across the state and through the seasons.

"I'll be honest - fromaway.com is the only food blog I read. Where else can I learn the secrets of making braised short ribs while simultaneously being reminded just how much I love the McDonald's Filet o' Fish?" --Joe Ricchio, Food Editor, Maine Magazine
About the Author
Malcolm and Jillian Bedell's Maine food blog fromaway.com hosts more than 150,000 unique visitors monthly, and has received a best-of award from Down East magazine. Malcolm also appeared on NBC's Today Show in 2013, where he won a Buffalo wing cookoff, and has competed in the World Food Championships in Las Vegas, NV. Always exploring new foods (and new takes on traditional foods) in restaurants and in their home kitchen, they make eating in Maine a four-season adventure.
