These are short stories of a few of his adventures including the John Muir Trail. This book will inspire you to go outside!1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. By the writer who got me interested in campingBy soap and tent loverI am officially 1/2 as obsessed with camping as the writer, which is fairly obsessed. His writing will hook you even if you are the most hardened city slicker who avoids bugs and grass. You will camp. You will go in the outdoors. You will laugh and feel alive. This book is his creme. He is restrained and less flavorful than his earlier writings, but no less compelling and clear.

The journalist described by one of his editors as a man "who looks like Grizzly Adams, (with) the outdoor sense of Marlin Perkins, the spirit of Johnny Appleseed, and the range of John Muir" transports readers through the wildest country imaginable, offering riveting rides up the Sierra, down rainforest rivers, and over the roughest tundra and trails--from California to Costa Rica.
