This Guide is designed as a practical guide for practitioners who direct and administer short-term programs, the book was edited by two experts with considerable experience in the field, Sarah El Spencer, from the University of St Thomas, and Kathy Tuma, from St. Olaf College, with sixteen other professionals contributing. The book recognizes that short-term programs abroad differ from other traditional models and acknowledges that, within higher education, the definition of short-term programs abroad has changed significantly over the last fifty years. Anyone-education abroad professionals, teachers in secondary or higher education, volunteer or church group leaders- can use the tools provided in the book to build successful short-term programs tailored to their own institutions.
